Minneapolis (November 1, 2008) – The North Star Roller Girls are bringing the extreme sport of roller derby to downtown Minneapolis once again. Where they take on the Naptown Rollergirls from Indianapolis. The last time these two teams met in Indianapolis the North Star Roller Girls emerged victorious and forward to sending Naptown back to Indianapolis defeated once again.

In addition to competing as athletes, each of the 80 women on the NSRG also contributes her unique talents and abilities to running this skater-owned and -operated league. Off the track, these women range in age from 21 to 46 and come from all walks of life, bringing to the league a wide range of professional and life experience.

Professionally, the women of the NSRG count among them corporate trainers, IT professionals, sales professionals, teachers, mortgage professionals, graphic designers, skilled artisans, project managers, aestheticians, logistics specialists, and a research scientist. Others are stay-at-home moms, graduate and law school students, work in warehouses, or wait tables. On the track, this otherwise diverse group of women is united by their competitive spirit and love of roller derby, and each one gives what she can to make the league a success.
